Marijuana pot boils, sheriff digs up garden

All three of Hancock County's police forces have been kept busy over the last few days with two, the City of Waveland and Sheriff's office involved with marijuana offenses.

Waveland police declined to release any details yesterday concerning their recent investigations into offenses directly relating to marijuana other than to state that seven arrests have been made over the past two months and two pounds of marijuana recovered.

The Hancock Sheriff's Office meantime reports seizure of some 75 to 100 pots containing marijuana plants from an operation estimated by Sheriff Sylvan Ladner capable of producing some 30 pounds of product.

Owners of the "marijuana garden" relocated their plants after police had the operation under surveillance. This act resulted in officers moving in and confiscating the plants, pots, and a hot house used to start the seedlings.

Deputies said it looked as though the operation had been in existence for some time and that investigations are continuing.

They reported a quite Fourth of July marred only by a couple of automobile accidents which fortunately did not cause the deaths of any persons involved.

The Bay St. Louis Police Department has expressed its intention of cracking down on curfew violators in an effort to check a spread of vandalism and burglary.

This act is in conformance with the new mayor's instructions and includes more rigid checks of suspicious persons, loiterers, suspicious vehicles, prowlers, and the like.

Police Chief Douglas Williams said citations will be issued to persons in violation of City Ordinance Sec. 17-1, which reads, in part...

"It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to be engaged in prowling, promenadeing, loitering, loafing, or congregating on any of the streets, sidewalks, or in or near any railroad station, parks, or any other public place of the City of Bay St. Louis.

"Any person found guilty of violating Paragraph (A) of this Section shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than $25 nor more than $50."

Twister strikes at Bordages Fish Camp

by JERRY WHITTLE

A twister struck Hancock County early Tuesday morning as six boat sheds at Bordages Fishing Camp and Marina in the Bayou Caddy were damaged between 7:30 and 8:00 a.m. No injuries were reported and no damage to boats stored at the marina was reported.

According to Willie Bordages, who lives in a mobile home directly behind the boat sheds, tin from the sheds were ripped off and wrapped around a tree just at the rear of his home. The tree prevented damage to his home and possible injuries.

Some power lines were also damaged by the storm and one light was torn down. A tree was also fell on the road leading to the fishing camp.

New Bay Council

Salaries, appointments highlight first meeting

by JERRY WHITTLE

Election of council officers, establishment of salaries, appointment of department heads and endorsement of the proposed overpass for Highway 90 were highlights of the first official meeting of the new Bay St. Louis City Council last Tuesday night at city hall.

After "setting their house in order" by electing James Thrifflay as President of the Council and Peter Benvenuti as Council Vice-President, the new council faced an immediate problem of funding the overpass which has been in the mill for a number of years.

When the overpass question arose during Mayor Larry Bennett's report, it was noted he had visited the Hancock County Board of Supervisors earlier in the day and received their endorsement and a pledge of $15,000 for construction. After a lengthy period of discussion, the council gave unanimous approval to match the $15,000 amount pledged by the supervisors. When asked where the city would obtain the $15,000, the mayor said the city expects to receive just over that amount in revenue sharing funds in the near future. It was noted the total cost of the overpass project would amount to some $127,000. Thrifflay said he, the mayor and Charlie Hill of Burk and Associates will visit with the governor in an effort to secure the additional funding, $97,000, needed for the project.

The motion to pledge the $15,000 from the city was made by Councilman Harry Farve, seconded by Councilman Wilmer Seymour, and passed unanimously.

The two hour, 15 minute meeting was opened with a brief prayer by Bennett and presentation of a State Flag from Rep. J.P. Compretta.

Thrifflay and Benvenuti were elected council officers for a term of one year. Thrifflay conducts all meetings and Benvenuti assumes the duties of the chair in the event Thrifflay wishes to enter a motion or is absent.

Jody Gex was reappointed as city attorney at the same salary, $175 per month, and H. Edward Engelhorn was reappointed as city clerk at a salary of $780 per month.

The next order of business was the establishment of salaries for the mayor and the council members. The mayor's salary was set at $13,500 per year, plus a car allowance of $100 per month. The car allowance applies to travel along the coast; other travel expense outside the immediate area will be paid for by the city. It was stipulated in the motion on the yearly salary that the same salary would be paid for the entire four year term.

Salaries for the council members were set at $200 per month. They were not given any car allowance.

Six general departments were established and department heads appointed for each. The department and the man to head each were as follows:

POLICE-Douglas Williams
FIRE-Greg Richardson
SANITATION-Bill Johnson
PUBLIC MAINTENANCE-Charles Black
UTILITIES-Carl Arnold
FINANCE-Robert Blenvenu

Approval of the departments and the heads followed recommendations for each from Mayor Bennett. It was explained the appointments were for the mayor's term, but he also has the power to replace any or all with the approval of the council. There were two (CONTINUED ON PAGE 8)

EDA fund split settled, schools, P&H, Bay gain

by JAKE JACOB

The Hancock County supervisors on Tuesday turned aside a request from their freshly installed McCleod Park Commission for a share in the much contested Economic Development Administration (EDA) grant of $290,000 saying that such was "far too late."

but, in a surprise move, voted to give $15,000 of the money to the City of Bay St. Louis to be used in the construction of a pedestrian overpass at Dunbar and US-90.

The award to the municipality followed an appeal by Mayor Larry Bennett making his first appearance before the supervisors in his new role, having been sworn into office last Friday.

Bennett apologized to the supervisors that on his first day of office he should come before them "begging for money."

He said the overpass at Dunbar and US-90, is sorely needed for the safety of school children having to cross the busy traffic artery on their way to and from North Bay Elementary School.

Bennett said the city has received the endorsement of both the Governor's MIDAS Committee and, on a former occasion, the supervisors, for the project.

Supervisors also allocated $100,000 of the EDA grant to the Port and Harbor Commission to be used as local matching money towards development of the industrial park at Stennis International Airport.

Board president Alton A. Kellar said the port commission was able to run their money up to about three dollars for each dollar invested by the county and the allocation would do much towards completing the industrial park.

The port commission told their supervisors last month that when complete the park would provide up to 400 permanent jobs almost immediately following the installation of services and sufficient time for industrial construction.

The balance of the EDA grant, $175,000, was earlier earmarked for county school construction, a fact verified when the allocations were read into the minutes.

Kellar called for a roll call vote on the motion with all supervisors replying in the affirmative less Beat 1 Supervisor Bert Courge who cast the lone "nay" count.

Courge said he wanted the reasons for his objection read into the record. These, he said, were that while he approves of the port and harbor allocation he disapproves of granting part of the county's EDA grant to Bay St. Louis for construction of the overpass.

"Bay St. Louis should consider utilizing part of their $207,000 grant for this purpose," Courge said.

Bennett responded by saying the municipality's money was earmarked for installation of sewer lines into the newly annexed area, as per the original application.

Courge said that no one had had their priorities approved (by EDA) and therefore Bay St. Louis could re-submit their application showing their desire to use part of the grant for the overpass.

Supervisor of Beat 4 Sam Pernicaro who had been called from the meeting prior to the vote being taken, said by telephone later in the day that he was "all for..." using the money for the children's overpass.

Oscar Peterson, Supervisor of Beat 3, (CONTINUED ON PAGE 8)

HNC cafeteria to house both high and elementary schools

by JAKE JACOB

The numbers are being run through more time at the Hancock County School Board office following a session late last week between that group and the Educational Finance Commission (EFC) in Jackson.

Construction activities within the system went into high gear following the supervisors earmarking $175,000 of the county's recent $290,000 EDA grant for the project.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph, in company with the system's architect John Mykolyk of Pass Christian, was informed by EFC that the proposed second cafeteria at Hancock North Central would not be sanctioned by that group.

"We were told they would not allocate any money to the construction of a second kitchen on the same campus but they would provide matching funds for a single kitchen unit having two dining rooms," the superintendent told his board Tuesday evening.

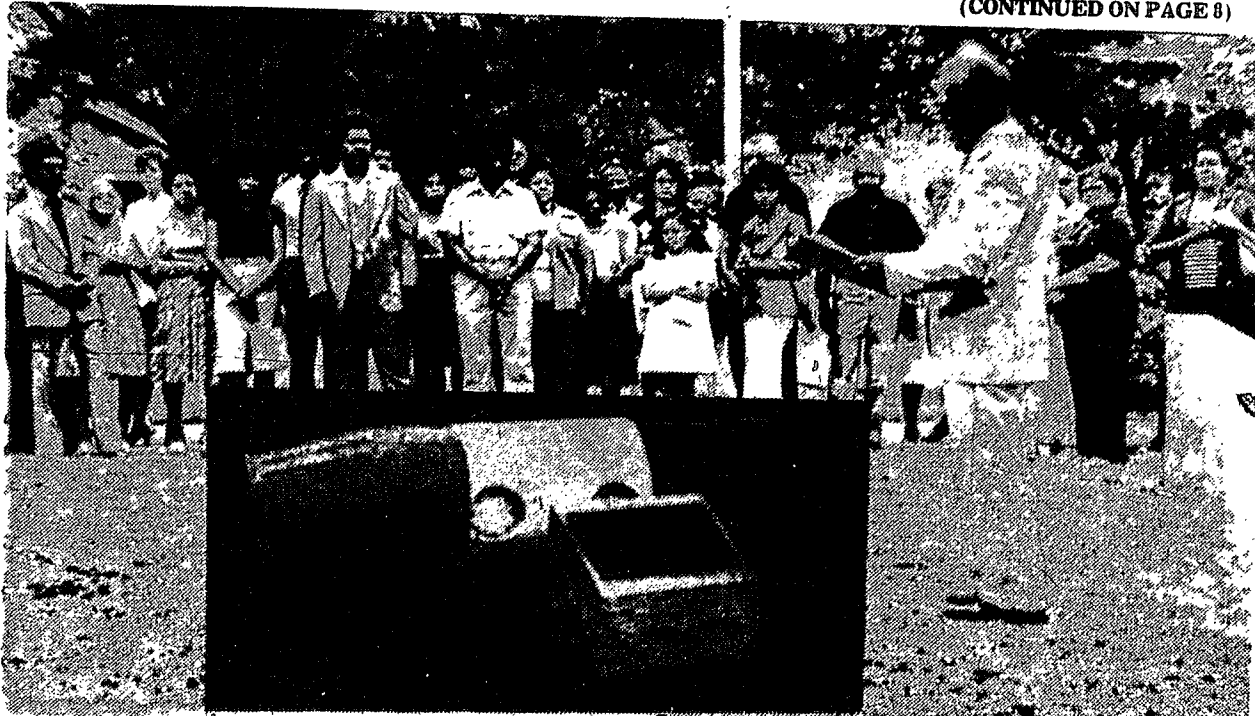

Under this arrangement the needs of the school would be met under a single roof with a new kitchen unit spanning through the center of the building and separate lunch rooms to each side, one for the high school and the other to cater to the wants of the elementary school.

Probable site for the new building was cited as being to the north of the present junior high structure, a suggestion which did not sit too well with acting chairman Woodrow Ladner. Ladner claimed the distance between structures would present undue hardships on some students having to travel between the buildings in rainy weather.

Mykolyk said he would try and assemble new figures by the board's next session scheduled for Friday morning.

Most issues on the agenda were continued to the Friday meet when it is expected a full board will be present. Items taken under advisement until

Les Damoselles presents annual Vanette Favre Acker Scholarship

The Les Damoselles organization has announced the first of their annual Vanette Favre Acker Scholarship Fund recipients for 1977.

The winner in Hancock County is Louis Dunkin, a 1977 graduate of Bay Sr. High School. A winner from Harrison County will be named at a later date.

Dunkin was presented with a $150 scholarship and his name will be placed on a plaque; the Harrison County winner will receive the same amount.

NATIONAL HONOR UNIVERSITY - The National Council of Garden Clubs Inc. has awarded its Silver Seal Award for outstanding achievement to Dr. Maynard W. Quimby, professor emeritus of pharmacognosy at Ole Miss.

Les Damoselles organized the Vanette Favre Acker Scholarship Fund on May 23, 1976.

Each year, two young people from the Hancock and Harrison Counties area are given a scholarship in her name. These young people work in various ways with Les Damoselles in helping to raise money for the organization.

The scholarship winners are selected on the basis of financial need in order to continue their education. Dunkin plans to attend

Pearl River Junior College in furthering his education.

Les Damoselles was founded in February 1973 and was organized by ladies with similar interests who saw a need for an organization that would promote community and social growth. Their purpose is twofold, first, philanthropic and secondly, social advancement. They sponsor social affairs for teenage citizens as well as adult citizens. They have contributed funds to a number of organizations and individuals in need.

News in brief

AUXILIARY TO MEET

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Theodore S. Price Post of VFW, Bay St. Louis, will meet 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, July 14, at Post Home on Blaise Avenue. All members are urged to attend as well as people eligible to join.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER-Louis Dunkin is presented the annual Les Damoselles' annual Vanette Favre Acker Scholarship as the winner selected from Hancock County. His name will also be placed on the plaque being held by Mrs. Elvira Favre, mother of Vanette Favre Acker. Presenting the scholarship were Mrs. Ann Bradley (L), Secretary and Mrs. Eartha Acker (R), Parliamentarian. A scholarship fund has been set up at Hancock Bank and anyone wishing to contribute is welcome to do so. (ECHO Photo by Jerry Whittle)

Buccaneer Crew Notes

BY LEIGH KOHNKE

Thousands of people flooded Buccaneer Park over the holiday weekend to enjoy the sunshine and the warm weather. The formal campground filled early Thursday morning, while the latecomers enjoyed the primitive facilities.

Friday night competitive campers enjoyed an exciting shuffleboard tournament which was won by the team of Richard Ferrier and Bill Yetter of Chalmette. Second place was taken by Ike Cook and Ernie Serpas also of Chalmette.

Saturday morning a macrame class was held in the Rec Hall. Eager learners made beautiful flower pot hangers simply through the art of tying knots. Later in the day, an old fashioned horseshoe throwing tournament was offered for campers 18 and over. Bob Dingman of Gulfport was the victor, followed by Henry Thomasich of Jasper, Arkansas.

Sunday morning younger campers were introduced to use of the compass. A treasure was buried in the East side of the park, and was sought after with the aid of the compass. The Keller boys of Biloxi were the lucky winners in the search.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Breland and family held a reunion for the Dickerson family in Pavilion No. 2. 95 family members and 10 visitors attended the gala event.

Sunday afternoon a ping pong tournament for adults proved Chris Deasual of New Orleans to be the champ, followed closely by Sylvia Bowers of Marrero. Later in the night campers gathered in the Rec Hall to share both food and conversation at the Pot Luck Supper. Afterward, June Dearman presented a puppet show for the kids.

Monday the park filled more than ever with the holiday crowd. Swimmers, picnickers, tennis players and visitors were everywhere! In the Rec Hall a ping pong tournament for the 6-12 year olds was won by Dean Collier of Waveland. In the 13-17 year old division, David Howard, 16, of Waveland came out on top with Lester Martin, 16, also of Waveland placing a strong second.

All in all, it was a safe and fun filled weekend for thousands of Fourth of July celebrants here at Buccaneer! Next week's special attraction will be a sneak preview of the Gulf South Blue Grass Festival. Bands from the festival will be on hand at the park and begin playing around 7:30 p.m. Friday. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy this good time at Buccaneer's Pavilion No. 3.

SEARS - JUNIOR LIPTON ELIMINATIONS - RANDY SANTA CRUZ sailed a beautiful series to win the Bay Waveland eliminations for Sears and Junior Lipton team. Randy's finishes were three firsts, a second and a third in the five races he sailed of the seven race series. This victory qualifies Randy to represent Bay-Waveland in the Quarter-Finals of the United States Junior Sailing Championship, for the Sears Cup, which will be sailed in Flying Scots at St. Andrews' Bay Yacht Club July 23 and 24.

Corky Hadden posed the biggest threat to Randy with his two firsts, two seconds and a third. Finishing second in the series Corky also qualifies as a skipper on the Junior Lipton team and may represent Bay Waveland in the Quarter-Finals of the United States Junior Double-Handed Sailing Championship to be sailed concurrently with the Sears.

Mimi Eagan finished third with a 5, 3, 2, 2, 1 record and will be the third member of Bay-Waveland's Junior Lipton team who will sail at Pontchartrain Yacht Club in Mandeville on July 16 and 17. Dennis Stieffel who finished fourth will be alternate skipper for the team.

Final Scores: RANDY SANTA CRUZ - 7%; Corky Hadden - 8%; Mimi Eagan - 12%; Dennis Stieffel - 13%; Gordon Boh - 16; John Gordon - 20 and Tracey Stieffel - 26.

BOURBON - ADAMS - KNOST ELIMINATIONS - CINDY STIEFFEL won the Bay-Waveland skipperette championship for the Bay Bourbon Trophy with a 5, 1, 1, 2, 1 record in the six race series, qualifying for the Knost team and BWYC representative in the Quarter-Finals of the United States Women's Sailing Championship for the Adams Cup.

Mimi Eagan, the only participant to sail both series, and Ellen Eagan finished second and third and qualify for the other two members of the all-girl Knost team who will race at Pass Christian Yacht Club on August 13 and 14. Judy McKinney finished fourth and will be alternate skipper for the Knost team.

Final Scores: CINDY STIEFFEL - 9%; Mimi Eagan - 12%; Ellen Eagan - 12%; Judy McKinney - 14%; Elizabeth Chapman 19 and Ann Stieffel - 20.

FOURTH OF JULY - Many members enjoyed a pleasant relaxed Fourth of July at the yacht club. Several impromptu Sunfish races were held with Robert Killeen and Dennis Stieffel as winners.

RACE WEEK - Pass Christian Yacht Club will host the annual GYA Race Week on July 9 and 10.

BOARD MEETING - Friday, July 8, at 7:00 p.m. in the Junior Room.

CORNEBEEF AND CABBAGE - Saturday night July 9 at BWYC.

REGISTRATION FOR SAILING CLASSES - Tuesday, July 12, will be registration for the second session of Flying Scot sailing instructions at BWYC. Instructors are Edgar Santa Cruz and Mimi Eagan.

BAIL THE BILGE - Saturday, July 16.

Local Farmer's Market continues to grow

CRANE CREEK PRODUCE - Mrs. Closter Ladner of Crane Creek Community in Hancock County sells her produce to customers last Saturday at Hancock County's Farmers Market.

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

After a month's operation on Wednesday and Saturday, Hancock County's Farmers Market continues to grow in attendance and the amount of items available for purchase.

Some new items seen by this reporter were homeground cornmeal and grits, white and yellow from the Toxie Mitchell's of Picayune. Mitchell said that he has been grinding cornmeal and grits for the past 22 years at his farm and does it as a hobby.

Another new item we saw were quail ready for the skillet as well as pickled quail eggs. Watermelons were plentiful, all types of produce and that good old bees' honey.

County Agent John Smith reminds everyone that the Farmers Market is open each Wednesday and Saturday starting at 7 a.m.

.463 Last week Alan Chasze threw the 1st perfect game for many
.455 seasons as Riemann's defeated American Legion 12-0 in 4 in-.409 nings. Chasze used excellent control and Riemann's provided a strong defense to aid Chasze in his win. Chasze faced only 12 batters in the 30 minute contest.

In other action last week: Hancock defeated Merchants 5 to 4 in 7 innings, Gulf National beat Our Shopping Center 18 to 17, Hancock Bank edged Our Shopping Center 21 to 5, and Riemann's defeated Merchants 10 to 7.

Hancock Bank and Riemann's are tied for the second round lead, each with a 5-0 record. Hancock and Riemann's both defeated Merchants' Bank last week in crucial games which saw the elimination of Merchants' as a second round contender.
Hancock won the first round of the Little League season and only Riemann's stands between them and their attempt to sweep both halves of the season.

Riemann's and Hancock meet Wednesday July 6th at 7:50 in the game which should decide the second round champion.
Riemann's will be pitching their ace, Shawn Henderson, who is undefeated this year with a 6-0 record. Hancock will probably use the combined pitching team of Brock Godwin and Gus Alme. The two teams have played twice earlier in the season with each team winning a game.

It appears that Scott Adams has all but wrapped up the coveted "Herchel Henderson Award." This is the award that is annually bestowed upon the league's leading hitter. With only 2 games left, Adams is hitting .683 and is nearly 100 points ahead of his nearest competitor. Adams has been an all star for the past 2 seasons and is rumored to be heading for a tryout with the "Bohoken Buffalo's" of the "Just Fair League" after the season is over.

There are two leading candidates for the "Ryan Duran Cup," the leagues pitching award. Gus Alme pitches for Hancock Bank and has a 5-1 record. Gus has a variety of pitches, excellent speed and depends on his fast ball for most of his victories. The other pitcher is Shawn Henderson of Riemann's.
Shawn's record is 6-0. He relies on a tremendous fast ball for most of his pitches. The winner of the "Cup" could be decided Wednesday when both pitchers should meet in a crucial game for the 2nd round championship.

Legion, Dixie get wins

American Legion trounced
Chasze, 17 to 3 and Dixie shutout Rotary, 7 to 0 in Babe
Ruth action Tuesday night.

David Strong pitched 5 good innings as American Legion downed Chasze in the first game. Kelly Geroux went 3 for 4 and Eric Labat 2 for 7.

Ronald Carter started for Chasze and was tagged with the loss. Ricky Hardie,
Donald Carver and Mitch
Hardie collected a hit apiece as Strong held them to just 3 hits.

In the second game Andrew Haas held Rotary to no runs and only 3 hits, one each to Perre Cabell, Steve Trelles, and Joe Gex.

Cabell was the losing pitcher, Alan Almond was the big stick for Dixie as he went 2 for 3 at the plate.

Most of the reports on saltwater fishing were pretty good this past week. There were a good many specks caught over the 4th weekend, most were caught on live bait.

The water is looking real good in all the local rivers and their tributaries. The saltwater has moved well up into the Jourdan and Pearl rivers, along with the salt-water are also salt-water fish.

The fresh-water fishing isn't going to well at this time despite the fact that all the fresh-waters in our area are looking good, other than being low. The reason being for the poor fresh-water fishing is probably high water temperature.

The 1977-78 hunting and fishing licenses are now out, so if you plan to do any freshwater fishing make sure you have a valid Mississippi fishing license. You can buy your new hunting and fishing license at Sportsman's
Paradise, Al Kingston's
Barber Shop and at Western Auto.

Jay Triche, Mark Uram and Robert Kane caught 37 specks
Saturday a-week-a-go that ran 3 to 5 lbs each while fishing way out. They also lost some big reds because they didn't have the proper tackle.

Butch Baughman, Paul and John Pursley stuck 131
flounders last Saturday night.

There must be a way

On the high bluffs of the Jourdan river sits McLeod Park.

It is a new, first class park in Hancock County; it offers artesian water, a ballfield with bleachers, swimming and a boat launch to the Jourdan river, fishing piers, nature trails and concrete picnic tables situated under majestic live oaks and yellow heart pine trees.

With all of these we can still see one big problem, we have a 1977 model park with a 1917 model roadway to it from Highway 603.

The road is known as the Texas Flat. While we hear the Hancock County Board of Supervisors is looking into various ways to resurface this road, we feel a concentrated effort should be made to complete this project.

We also realize a part of this road is in the Buffer Zone, but a part of it is not.

All that is really needed at this time is to resurface the road as far as the entrance of McLeod Park!

The present condition of this road may even present a hazard to health, property, animals and farm crops

Opinion/Jake Jacob

Sound politics exhibited in overpass $'s decision

Early in the morning of October 29, 1975, a car driven by a person who was later charged with driving under the influence, reckless driving, and running a red light, ran straight through a file of children crossing US-90 on their way to school at North Bay Elementary.

The purpose of this editorial is not to again re-live that terrible morning or re-describe the carnage resulting from this act.

It is however to again point out the dangers faced every morning and evening by the elementary students of Bay St. Louis forced to cross the intersection of US-90 and Dunbar on their way to and from school.

Each morning and evening at least two policeman guard the crossing and mobile units are disposed around the site with flashing lights to warn vehicle operators of the danger.

With all the precautions and presence of police the children face the twice daily gauntlet extended by that crossing.

And, sadly, all too often the screeching of brakes and the anxious expressions of police, students, errant drivers, and all in the vicinity, tell of yet another narrowly averted incident.

This week the county supervisors voted to give $15,000 of their recent $290,000 grant from the Economic Development Administration (EDA) to the City of Bay St. Louis to apply against the estimated $127,000 cost of building a pedestrian overpass at the US-90 and Dunbar location.

The decision to expend this money in this way must be viewed with admiration in the face of the multiplicity of requests for its employment.

The size of EDA's grant to this county was far short of expectations, and the lack of guidelines for its spending led to many and oft times heated argument for its best use.

While listening to the "evidence" presented on Tuesday "the message" came through.

While some may question the act of the supervisors in donating county money to a municipal cause (although the same complainants are generally not heard from when the county applies direct aid in the fixing of city streets) the wisdom of making the needs of the children the county's number one priority will probably, in the long haul, be clearly determined.

because of its dusty and rough surface.

It could also be a hazard to life where it travels along the end of Stennis International Airports runway. The combination of haze, dust and reflection may result in a student pilot misjudging his distance.

If Hancock County is to grow, it must take advantage of every asset available and recreation is one of these assets.

Tidbits

Our Editorial of July 3, had the last paragraph deleted in production, it should have finished like this; "Waveland as well as Bay St. Louis should have a marina. Think about it!"

In the issue of June 30 of the Sea Coast Echo, we made a "Plea to all citizens" to be careful with fires. With all the fires in our area we would like to ask you again to please be careful with fires.

The Bay St. Louis City Council got started on the right foot Tuesday by banning smoking during their meetings. More official bodies should do the same.

Opinion

Whittlin' with Whittle

Well, hopefully everyone made it through the 4th of July Holiday with no major difficulties. A few minor wrecks, several sunburns and a large number of "pop pop fizz" were experienced by all. The traffic was horrendous, the beaches packed and motels full. But all in all it was an enjoyable weekend for most.

However, while we all returned to our regular routines Tuesday there were a number of people back off the beach. But they were not there for fun and relaxing in the sun. They were there to work. To clean up the mess we left behind at the climax of the weekend.

A trip down the beach Tuesday morning was not a very pleasant sight. Nor would it make for good advertising to outside visitors. Sure there were workmen there to put the beach back in order, but have you ever stopped to think who has to pay for the clean up? Right, you!

The unsightly mess is bad enough, but the health danger is the worst part. Broken bottles, bent cans, remains from the beach party fire and garbage dumped every where is a little more than we can take. Children have a habit of not worrying about their surroundings and we can just see a three or four year-old rushing to the water's edge for a day of enjoyment. Then suddenly a scream and a slashed foot caused from a broken bottle or a bent can. No fun in the water...instead, a trip to the hospital or doctor's office, shots (if needed), stitches and days in the house. All this because someone forgot that others use the same beach and want to have the same fun.

On your next trip to the beach, treat it as if it were your own. Clean up the mess before you leave and if there are no trash cans, carry it home.

We were given some very good information last week by a representative of the Bay-Waveland Humane Society. Among the news releases we found a very important notice that every pet owner should remember. This concerns leaving your pet in a hot car.

The following information should be followed:

Don't leave your dog or cat in a parked car during the hot summer months-not even for a short trip to the supermarket. The buildup of heat inside your car can kill your pet very quickly!

On an average summer day the temperature inside your car can reach an unbearable 160 degrees in the sun. Even if you leave your windows cracked a bit, your pet can die of heat prostration within a short time. And, those that survive can suffer unseen brain damage.

Your pet doesn't sweat like you do. Its lungs are its main cooling system. With nothing but overheated air to breathe, your pet can't live very long.

Remember, shaded parking areas, open windows, and air conditioned cars with the motors off won't work. If you love your pet, leave it home. Don't take a chance with your pet's life!

Consolidation - an issue as budget time nears

(This is the second of four editorials dealing with the subject of consolidation of public school systems in this county into a single unit being reprinted at this time in an attempt to once again open the subject for debate. Originally appearing on Thursday, March 11, 1976, the figures contained herein are subject to up-dating, but the content and purpose remain as true now as they did then.)

The constitution and statutory language, court interpretations and long, established practice, make it very clear that the legislature of each state is, in fact, the "big school board."

In recent years, these state departments have tended to emphasize their role, particularly in the fields of minimum requirements, teacher certification, and the distribution of state funds.

Thus, Mississippi schools are not only subject to legislative and executive control, they are also subject to judicial control.

The court is, in its construction, split into three distinct units. The base of judicial action is the circuit court which has general and original jurisdiction over criminal and civil cases, including those pertaining to schools. Next, there are the appellate courts which, in themselves have no original jurisdiction, but they do hear appeals on the basis of evidence previously supplied the lower court. At the apex of the judicial system is the state supreme court, also ordinarily an appellate and non originating court. Crucial questions pertaining to state schools and school system, in particular those directly relating to the constitutionality of specific legislative action, often move through all three state court levels.

Recognizing the authority of the state legislature, the courts are, we would think, reluctant to substitute their own judgement for legislative intent.

We are also aware of the claim that top decisions in a community - which is in itself one of the greatest influencing legislative lobbying forces - are made by an informal elite and not by the people who act within the formal structure or who make up the interest group of the community.

It is the responsibility of the state to assure that each school district must have the required financial resources to permit its operation.

Further, we believe it is the responsibility of the state to mandate a minimum levy for all school districts to continue their qualification for state aid fund sharing. In other words, taxes gained under such a levy are collected and disbursed locally, but local districts have no discretion in determining the depth of this tax.

Adding to this local levy, the state department gains income from personal income tax and sales tax to finance their department enforced minimum educational standards program.

To give local movement within the taxation framework, and provide a program of education beyond state minimums, Mississippi law permits school districts to receive money from additionally imposed local taxes.

Without going into the merits or pitfalls of the Hancock County property owner's ability to saddle ever increasing tax burdens, we again refer to the current trend in Mississippi towards granting county school districts the same tax setting privileges as municipal districts, and giving permission to county governments to hike the present mill rate from 25 to 30 mills.

Hancock County has a school budget of $3,143,637 for the current school year.

We do not know that even with the elimination of an entire pyramid of administrative excess, and the provision of a like level education for all students in the county, that even this sum could be maintained at a status quo.

We have shown that enabling legislation has been enacted.

We have shown that, at least on the surface, there exists argument for consolidation.

We now show additional avenues through which the county may travel to bring about a possible lessening of tax burden; a greater utilization of school structures and teaching staff; a method through which all students are afforded the best and equal chance for the future.

We now respectfully ask that school authorities in both the municipal and county systems break their silence on this topic - if necessary calling for a public meeting to at least let people hear the pros and cons from responsible multi-level educators and financiers.

Further, we ask this be done in time for the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, and the Bay-Waveland Municipal governments, to review the situation prior to their having to approve 1976-77 school year budgets.

SEA COAST ECHO
TO: THE EDITOR

DEAR EDITOR:
Concerning the article about the Marine in the July 3rd edition of the Sea Coast Echo on Page 4-A, a few facts need to be clarified.

The article stated that the recent city council meeting of June 20th, "Residents were in a roar, voicing opposition to any type of Marina." That statement was in error. I personally stood up at that meeting to make it clear that no one present was opposed to a Marina in itself, but that all present were opposed to its location at Washington Street. Records can be checked if desired. As for the "roar" that also has to be an error, for obviously people just simply do not go around roaring.

In reference to the jobs, no Marine in any location can build itself, hence building a Marina in any location will be of necessity furnish wanted jobs. Further comments are superfluous.

The article says "The head of Washington Street is a good place," this statement is the greatest of errors. It's location at Washington Street is the most dangerous area in the Bay. It is on a high bluff with a steep concrete embankment, curving and sloping all the way to Boulder Street. A few weeks ago a second car ran over the embankment, in front of my house. Police cars, wrecker, ambulance and a long line of cars were all stalled on that slope, but not a report of that accident in the Echo. Why? To conceal these dangers from the citizens? They do have a right to know. Normal traffic is heavy about the Star Theater and a boy has already been killed at this point.

To build an additional two and three hundred parking spaces planned for a Marina at this location would place the lives of all residents on the beach in terrible jeopardy under normal conditions and when hurricanes threaten. A Marina at this accident-prone area would cause immediate congestion of cars of all boat owners. Frantic to secure or take away their boats. Endless cars would be backed up on both sides, one accident at this point could stall all cars in both directions, blocking side streets, and entrances. People seeking to take their families elsewhere for safety would be trapped, unable to get out of their own driveways. These facts which have somehow been overlooked, must be faced. No town would knowingly or differently subject its citizens to such jeopardy.

Remarks about majorities and minorities have nothing to do with the larger, real issue at stake, the very structure and integrity of our laws that affect every last one of us, man, woman and child, memories indeed are short. We have already voted, all of us, to preserve this integrity, in a new form of government. A government in which we hope the laws will be used for protection not circumvention, and for the highest good and benefit for all, in safety and well being and not simply for majorities and minorities, or abused by devious subterfuge.

This is the issue at hand on which together we all must stand or fall, every city and town and state, on which our nation itself above all endures.

Dear Sir:-

This is just to express our appreciation and good will towards our Supervisor, Bert Courge, for his efforts to correct conditions on Oak Street, which we have patiently waited for so long.

We now have a street we can use in comfort and safety, plus the cleanliness and lack of dust.

Others on this street join me in this expression of gratitude.

Dear Mr. Cuevas:

I read, with great interest and concern, Jake Jacob's article on consolidation.

As a parent who lives in Pearllington, I am a strong advocate of consolidation.

The reasons are endless but I would like to tell you what it is like to live approximately 40 miles one way from the designated school my children should attend.

My oldest son attended Bay Jr. High School last year. My husband and I could not see the feasibility to send him to Hancock North Central since it is so far away. There is a great deal of danger in traveling that far, with the fog, rain and even snow that we have experienced.

It goes without saying that the overcrowded conditions at HNC were a prime reason for choosing Bay St. Louis.

Education is the most valuable, excluding religious education, that we can give to our children but along with education comes a social aspect that is vitally important to every citizen. Can you imagine what it would be like to want to participate in sports, or other social activities and live 80 miles round trip from your school?

I pay $200 a year for one child to attend the BSL School System. The transportation I have to provide myself. I pay county taxes. My son cannot participate in sport activities this year because he must sit out one year since he is not going to the school designated. We have put our home up for sale to move into BSL because of the school situation. This does not seem fair to me. Why must my children be penalized and our way of life uprooted to provide them with a better, safer and happier school life?

I met with the State Superintendent of Education, Dr. Charles Holladay, on June 23, concerning consolidation. His statement was that he wanted what was best for the children in this State. He was quick to say that consolidation did not necessarily mean a better school system. He was sympathetic to the needs of the lower end of the county.

I do not claim to know nearly all the problems that would exist in consolidation but as a parent and a taxpayer I request that we have a public meeting with the two school boards and the Board of Supervisors to air our opinions and most importantly to do what is best for the children of our county.

It is time that we put our differences aside and provide our children with the best education, in all aspects, that we can.

I further urge all people to step forward and say how they feel one way or the other on the vital issue of consolidation.

Sincerely,
Jerry Benigno

Dear Mr. Cuevas:

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce appreciates not only the faithful reporting concerning the Farmers Market, but also the public service statements concerning it.

This first attempt at a Farmers Market is a significant milestone in Hancock County development. Its obvious success would not have been possible without your orderly dissemination of information concerning it.

We look forward to continued joint efforts with you in the orderly development of the Hancock County economy under the free enterprise system.

Washington report

By Trent Lott

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congressional conferees have agreed that the best place to manufacture the Army's newest artillery ammunition is a government-owned site in Hancock County.

South Mississippians are familiar enough with this site, which houses the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL). Portions of this sprawling acreage are already being used to test engines for the space shuttle, an ambitious project that will enable man, in effect, to commute between earth and space.

Now House and Senate conferees have agreed with the wisdom of locating the $181 million Army ammunition manufacturing facility in the same area. The benefits would run two ways.

First, Hancock and Pearl River Counties, the Mississippi Gulf Coast, parts of Louisiana and both states at large would receive a welcome economic boost from the creation of at least 1,500 permanent jobs. The Army has estimated that the facility at full production would result in an annual payroll of $83.3 million.

This would help mitigate the hardships caused the area by the curtailment of some NASA activities at the site by creating an estimated 10,410 direct and indirect jobs over a five-year period.

Secondly, the Army would get many existing accommodations in an established pro-military area where people recognize the importance of strong national defenses. Impact statements have shown the Hancock County location is the least expensive and most productive of the 91 sites investigated by the Army.

But the battle to locate the plant isn't over by a long shot. Even though the conferees have authorized funding as part of a military construction bill, both houses of Congress and the President must agree with that approval.

There are those on both sides of the aisle especially in the House waiting for another chance to beat the proposal. Hopefully, we can change their minds before the final vote is taken.

Let's look at what the Army would actually be doing in Hancock County. The purpose of their plan is to provide a government-owned, contractor-operated facility with the capability to manufacture an improved type of 155 mm artillery ammunition.

The Army has as its goal the incorporation of equipment and production methods representing the latest in the art of ammunition production. The facility has been planned to accommodate a maximum production rate of 120,000 rounds per month.

The facility would produce the familiar cylindrical steel casing of the 155 mm projectile by forging both hot steel and hot aluminum bars to rough dimensions then cooling, heat treating and machining them with lathes and similar equipment to their final dimensions.

A TRIBUTE TO
MAYOR WARREN
J. CARVER

As you leave public office after serving as Mayor of the City of Bay St. Louis for twelve years, I want to thank you for your service and complete dedication to the people treating everyone alike, with no regard for financial standing, race, creed or color. We were your people, and you gave us your all.

I thank you because you never seemed to lose your cool when all around you were losing theirs, and because you were always kind and patient, never too weary to listen to our requests and complaints, even though many times we were demanding, unreasonable and uncooperative.

Thank you for the knowledge and experience you brought to us from many areas of business and civic life, along with the competence to handle the complexities of city government.

Thank you for your determined efforts, over a period of many years, to change our unpopular form of government. Although many said it could not be done, you were able to bring about the new Mayor-Council Plan, which will give us all a voice in the operation of the city.

You were never wasteful with our tax dollars, nor negligent with the affairs of the city, often taking the unpopular stand, when you considered it to be right and honest, and for the good of all of your people. This was often misunderstood.

You never made promises unless you believe they could be fulfilled, and you always worked diligently to carry them out.

Under your leadership Bay St. Louis has seen continuous growth, and has become the cleanest and most attractive city on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

May you find happiness and fulfillment as you re-enter the business world, with the deep satisfaction that you have served us long and well as Mayor of the City of Bay St. Louis.

EDA Funds...

said he had been trying for two and a half years to find the money to build the overpass but had been unable to locate.

All together the project will run around $127,000.

Of this sum the city has around $11,000 it can allocate to the project, for a total allocation - with the EDA money, of $26,000.

Mississippi Governor Cliff Finch has agreed to fund at least 50 percent of the cost directly from Jackson, for another $68,500, reducing the amount now needed to $32,500.

In making the governor's pledge known, Fred Curet, member of MIDAS and a colonel on Finch's staff, told the supervisors that they could expect 50 percent or more of the cost of the overpass... in Jackson money.

Both the supervisors and Bennett hoped such would extend through the $32,500 additional requirement.

Peterson amplified his stand by saying that regardless of what the city does he is looking towards the safety of "the kids."

"We are elected to serve the whole county," Peterson said, adding that this is probably the most important project that could be ready in time.

As an aside, Peterson said his next project of concern is the leveling of the dip in Dunbar Avenue between the hospital and US-90.

"This is really needed and I have told the city I will go for half of the cost if they will go the other half," Peterson promised.

Speaking again of the overpass, Beat 5 Supervisor James Travirca agreed with his associates saying that it had been their original intention to allocate part of the GEC money for the project but that after this fell through they had been waiting opportunity to find alternative funding.

The supervisors generally agreed that their number two priority, after providing for the school children, had been to provide additional space in the courthouse but shortage of lead time and lack funds had eliminated this proposal.

John Rutherford, Jr., chancery clerk, made an urgent appeal to the supervisors asking that agencies such as the Gulf Regional Planning Commission be authorized to proceed with making application to what ever agency could be found in an attempt to find financing for the courthouse renovations.

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner carried the request one stage further and asked that funds be sought for building a new courthouse instead of pouring more money into the old structure which lacked parking space and was inadequate for the job.

He suggested such a building would best be built away from the congested downtown area in a location that would allow for present needs and provide room for expansion.

Kellar promptly responded that such had been tried following Hurricane Camille.

"At that time we were told that the foundations, walls, and beams of this building (the courthouse) are sound and that under these circumstances EDA could not see the feasibility of building another, new courthouse."

Ladner said, upon being questioned, that his jail needed extensive renovations.

Asked how he could get all the prisoners out of there in an emergency as some of the old heavy metal door required "five minutes to open," Ladner replied, jokingly, that he would simply give the keys to the prisoners as they seem to experience no difficulty at all in getting the old locks to work!

The sheriff also presented his budget for the year as did Tax Assessor and Collector George Heitzmann.

The law agency's figures called for expenditures of $204,000, which included a $50 across the board raise for his personnel, and hikes in social security and retirement payments.

It also reflected the $2,400 per year salary increase for all county sheriffs approved at the last session of the state legislature.

His figures did not include the cost of feeding prisoners, an item now met out of the county's general fund.

Heitzmann's budget also reflected a statutory raise, jumping his personal income to $19,000, a figure based on county population count.

His operation's budget amounted to some $120,451 which also included a $50 per month across the board raise to his employees. Too, it reflects the increases required in social security and retirement fund payments, the necessity of purchasing a calculator, the anticipated postage rate increase, and the necessity of expanding auto computer services.

Both county agency chiefs reminded the supervisors of the income created by their departments.

Heitzmann further compared 1976 assessments with those of this year, numbers likely to increase still further with the current building now underway in both the Bay-Waveland and Diamondhead areas, and the increased county assessments of $10 per acre on farmlands and $5 per acre on marsh and buffer zone lands.

He said the 1977 assessment is now $42,475,370, up considerably from the 1976 total of $38,323,180.

side notes made during Bennett's recommendations. The first came when he announced Richardson as Fire Chief. He add, "for a 60 day period". Following discussion and advice from Gex, Bennett withdrew the latter comment. Bennett noted in the appointment of Arnold, "Even though he has announced his plans to retire, he has agreed to stay on for a few months to assist us. When he does retire we will have lost a very valuable employee of the city."

In other policies, the council voted to meet each first and third Tuesday, following the first Monday, starting at 7 p.m. and continuing no later than 9:30 p.m. It was explained that if needed, the meeting would be put in recess at the cutoff time. The claims docket deadline each month will be on the 25th; the agenda docket will be closed the Thursday before each meeting. If you wish to appear before the council you should contact city hall in order to get on the agenda.

Unanimous approval was given to bonding the city officials. Bond for the mayor and clerk was set at $50,000 each; $25,000 each for the councilmen and the tax collector (Engelhorn) and a $10,000 blanket coverage for each employee who handles money for the city.

Thriffley announced that all city boards and commissions would remain the same until their terms expire. Recommendations for new members or reappointments would come from Mayor Bennett and be approved by the council.

In his mayor's report, Bennett thanked those in attendance (which was nearly a full room) and said their interest and support would be needed and welcomed. He stressed an open door policy with the people of Bay St. Louis and urged citizens to get involved with their city's government. Two projects that were started immediately by the mayor were (1) to clean up the streets in the city and (2) to instruct Police Chief Douglas Williams to enforce all city ordinances to the fullest.

Another item from the mayor was given by Arnold and proved to be a bombshell. Arnold said as of July 1st, United Gas had increased the cost to the city 17.1 percent and as of Friday of this week, all category three gas (industrial) will be cutback. He said this would mean the city may not be able to sell any gas to Alcan and further that the city might have to limit gas supplies to the city schools to two or three days per week. Categories one and two were listed as domestic and commercial respectively.

A meeting scheduled for this week in Washington to attempt a reconsideration on the cutbacks was described by Arnold as "in vain in my opinion."

The official said the city remains under a 1972 gas allotment and the city is limited to five months of winter and seven months of summer supplies. He said there could not be any carry-over for unused allotments. Hill gave a brief report from Burk and Associates and he was asked by Councilman Fred Wagner to furnish the council with a written report, instead of a verbal report, prior to the next meeting in order that the council could become familiar with the different projects under consideration. Bennett asked Hill what was the status on the Main Street Project and Hill said final approval should be forthcoming this week. He said as soon as the approval is given, the contractor can start work.

City Superintendent of Schools, J.D. McCulloch, spoke briefly to the council and offered the assistance of the school system to the new officials. Additionally, he said the schools were interested in obtaining EDA funds. One item he mentioned was funding for a lunchroom at the Bay Jr. High School, which he said would cost $300,000. He proposed a meeting with the council and school board to discuss funding and other matters.

E.J. Marengo made a statement to the council and congratulated all on their election. He said he had one disagreement with the night's business and that being the salaries. Marengo said he had figured the salary for the mayor and councilmen on a dollar per hour basis and felt the mayor was being paid some $6.27 per hour, based on 40 hours per week, and the council would be making $33.40 per hour for an estimated six hours of meeting time per month.

During the course of the meeting, it was announced that there would be no smoking during council meetings by the members or visitors. The next meeting will be July 19th at 7 p.m.

that time included: hiring of a new principal for Hancock North Central, approval of non-certified personnel for Gulfview and Charles B. Murphy Schools, approval to advertise for bids on the Gulfview School gymnasium restrooms and the North Central cafeteria, approval of the claim docket for June, approval of proposed cafeteria policies.

Trustees did move ahead on the advertising for bids on school supplies of various types for the coming year, and accepted the resignation of Sidney Seal, a teacher of four years standing at North Central whose letter had expressed his thanks for the time spent in the system.

Randolph said sufficient renovations would be made in the existing kitchen to permit the school to operate this fall. Once the new facility is built then the present cafeteria will be abandoned in that form moving such equipment as is possible to the new kitchen and dining rooms.

"With movable partitions we can turn the space into four classrooms and a home economics department without too much trouble," Randolph explained.

The quorum of board members again tackled the project priority question with particular attention being paid to the need for additional classroom space at HNC. No decisions were made and the issue is to be broached one more time on Friday.

Mykolyk was hesitant at this time on outlining his proposed method of bidding for the system's various construction needs saying he needs time to view both the new plans and prepare specifications.

"We may have to have a split bid according to how the EDA and EFC funding is to be allocated to the district," he said.

He said the new cafeteria would have between 11 and 12,000 square feet with the expensive part being the kitchen. Here, he indicated, would be the most need for plumbing, electrical work, new equipment and the like.

Mykolyk indicated the addition of a second dining room, should the structure have to be done in two, separate bids, would not prove to be either difficult or expensive.

Randolph said the need for new bids at Gulfview, although all plans and specifications were ready, was that the EFC would not accept bids that were already 18 months old.

Anthony Payne, 19, 415 Washington St., was arrested in connection with the theft of a starter from a pick up truck belonging to the city housing authority. A juvenile was also arrested in connection with the case. Investigating officer was Larry Ladner.

Assistant Chief Emmet Ellis is still investigating a break-in at the Afro Lounge this week in which a large quantity of beverages was stolen.

Wayne Bills, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bills, Rt. 2, Box 764, Bay St. Louis, was apparently struck by a vehicle driven by Catherine Meehan of Garden City, Mich., Wednesday morning on the Old Spanish Trail, according to Police Chief Douglas Williams.

Williams said the child was taken to Hancock General Hospital and then transferred to Gulf Coast Community Hospital in Biloxi, for treatment of head injuries.

The investigation is being conducted by Officer Larry Ladner.

VA news

Q-What is considered wartime service during World War II for pension benefits?
A-Dec. 7, 1941 through Dec. 31, 1946.

Q-I am the widow of a veteran killed in service. I am attending school under the Dependents Educational Assistance program. My daughter plans to attend college under the same program. Since she will be receiving educational assistance, will mine be reduced?
A-No. Your daughter is entitled to educational assistance in her own right.

Q-Why was my National Service Life Insurance dividend smaller than that received by a friend who has the same type of policy?
A-Dividends depend on the policy one holds, the amount of insurance, veteran's age at issue of renewal, and the length of time the policy has been in force.

Q-How many times can a veteran receiving GI Bill benefits change schools?
A-There is no limitation on the number of times an eligible veteran or serviceman can change schools if no change of program is involved provided his conduct and progress were satisfactory at the previous institution.

Q-What must I do to correct my military records?
A-A request for correction must be filed with the service concerned on Department of Defense Form DD-149, which may be obtained at any VA office.

Q-I am in receipt of 80 percent service-connected disability compensation. I have a wife and two children. My 17-year old son has married. When will my compensation payments be reduced?
A-Reductions will be effective at the end of the calendar year in which the child was married.

Income gain is recorded

Mississippi's 12.2 percent increase in per capita income during 1976 was the third highest percentage gain in the U.S., according to "Mississippi's Business," publication of the Ole Miss Bureau of Business and Economic Research. Editor E. Nolan Waller said national increase was 9.1 percent more than recorded in 1975. "Last year's performance," he said, "was a marked change in Mississippi from that of the previous year, when per capita income rose only 5.9 percent as compared with a national gain of 7.6 percent."

The Sea Coast Echo

"THE VOICE OF THE SOUTHWEST MISSISSIPPI GULF COAST"
Bay St. Louis Waveland Diamondhead Pass Christian Long Beach
SEA COAST ECHO-JULY 7, 1977-1B

The Coast was packed with tourists again this 4th and no wonder. Look around at the things we take for granted, other people drive many miles to enjoy them. Things like the miles and miles of beaches. Things like Buccaneer State Park. Buccaneer though one of the newest parks in the state is one of the most visited. We should all take pride in these and the many other things that make Hancock County what it is, a great place to visit and an even better place to live.

EMT course is offered

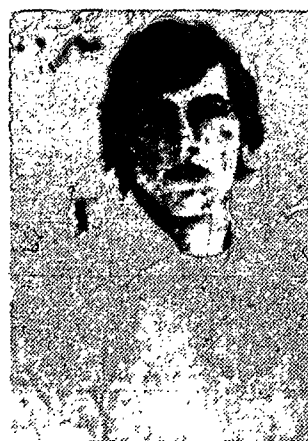

On Tuesday, July 12, at 6 P.M., there will be an organizational meeting at the Pearl River Junior College, Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center for eligible, prospective students to register for the EMT Class.

In order for a prospective student to be eligible, they must be employed or provide evidence that they will be employed in the emergency care field. Student priorities for admission will be as follows: Ambulance & Rescue Personnel, Hospital Emergency Care Personnel, Fire Department Personnel, Law Enforcement Personnel and Civil Defense Workers.

In 1974, the Mississippi Emergency Medical Services Act (Senate Bill No. 1679) authorized the Mississippi State Board of Health to develop an Emergency Medical Technician Training Program based upon the nationally approved United States Department of Transportation "Basic Training Program for Emergency Medical Technicians - Ambulance" prepared in compliance with recommendations of the National Academy of Sciences.

The EMT-A training course represents the first phase of training of the Emergency Medical Technician Career structure. The course covers all techniques of emergency medical care presently considered within the responsibility of the Emergency Medical Technician, as well as all operational aspects of the job which he will be expected to perform. Specific content of the course is based on the National Highway Safety Bureau standards, guidelines and recommendations for training ambulance personnel prepared by the Committee on Emergency Medical Services of the National Academy of Sciences and the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons.

The EMT-A course emphasizes the development of student skill in recognition of symptoms of illness and injuries and proper procedures of emergency care. As such, reliance is placed heavily on demonstrations and practice as a teaching method. Each lesson allows practice of specific skills covered in the lesson as appropriate and interleaved practice, test and evaluation sessions are designed to assure attainment of proficiency levels of all skills. For further information about the course, call 467-3568.

DAVID McDONALD

McDonald in MSU program

David N. McDonald, Jr. of Bay St. Louis is participating in the Cooperative Education Program at Mississippi State University.

The junior civil engineering major is working toward a B.S. degree and at the same time is working as a Co-op student with the Mississippi State Highway Department on alternating semesters.

The Cooperative Education Program is a five-year educational program which allows a student in various fields of agriculture, arts and sciences, business, education, engineering, and forestry to affiliate with a business or industrial firm while enrolled at Mississippi State.

By combining practical experience with theoretical training, this program provides the student with a superior education. Once degree requirements are completed, McDonald will begin full-time work with the cooperating firm or will join another organization which demands this specialized training.

Baptized

Ledie Elizabeth Austin, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Austin, Jr., was baptized June 26 in St. Clare Catholic Church, Waveland, with Rev. Msgr. John Scanlon, pastor officiating.

Godparents are Mrs. Sylvia LaFontaine and Chris Austin.

News from St. Ann's

CLASSES

Summer religion classes for public school children will be held from July 11 through July 22 in St. Ann's parish hall.

Sister Daniel Elizabeth is urging parents to bring their children in for registration as soon as possible.

Adults and teenagers interested in helping with the program are asked to contact Sister.

MASS

St. Ann's Altar Society Mass will be July 9 at 5 p.m. in St. Ann's Church.

Family has barbecue on the 4th

A family barbecue was held July 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terrell LaFontaine.

Attending were their son and daughter Terrell II and Vicki, Mr. and Mrs. Owen LaFontaine, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald LaFontaine and children, Mr. and Mrs. David Marquar and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Austin Jr. and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Dale LaFontaine and daughter, Dwayne LaFontaine, Robyn Breshier and David Murtagh.

Senior Citizens happenings

RECREATION

All Senior Citizens 60 years and over are cordially invited to attend our monthly games on Monday, July the 11th at 1:30 p.m. If possible, put this date on your calendar and plan to attend, you will like the different prizes we have for each game, donated by our local merchants. There will also be a surprise door prize, that will please the lucky winner. Refreshments consisting of homemade cakes and ice tea will be served. If time permits, we will have a community song fest. Mrs. Jourbert, one of our most active volunteers, will play the piano for us.

We had 87 Seniors who attended our games in July. This is an opportunity to have an afternoon of relaxation.

NUTRITION

BRING A FRIEND to lunch as many volunteers are doing. If you drive, why not invite someone you know who has no transportation and might like to have lunch here at the Center. Not only will you be doing a good deed, but you will enjoy it, too. This enables the shut-in to enjoy a good meal plus meet and talk and enjoy the companionship of others. Where else can you get all that for only fifty cents?

BIBLE CLASS

Rev. Charles Clark, instructor for the bible class at the Senior Citizens Center, extends an invitation to all Seniors to attend our bible class, meeting time, every Thursday at 10:00 a.m. Plan to attend the bible class every week as you will find Rev. Clark an affable instructor as well as a very good singer who leads the class in Gospel songs.

LUNCHEONS

The Ole Miss Department of Religious Life is sponsoring orientation luncheons for new students currently attending summer Pre-Registration-Pre-College Counseling programs this summer. The luncheons are designed to acquaint incoming students with the wide range of activities provided through the Committee of 100, campus interfaith group, and the 15 religious organizations on the Ole Miss campus as well as to introduce campus ministers and advisers.

Home Economist notes

By Norine Barnes

LET'S GO TO THE MARKET

The pork famine appears to be over for the present and perhaps, for the next year and a half. Responding to unusually high prices in 1975, hog producers increased their pig crop. This larger supply is leading to more attractive prices.

Consumer's sensitivity to prices showed up in their pork buying last spring. When pork prices were record high (January through June 1976), consumption fell to the lowest level since 1958. Now that prices are trending down, people are again starting to include their favorite pork dishes in menued pork.

When you select pork in the market remember that pork does not have government grades. The meat is usually well flavored and tender, because hogs are bred only for meat and are marketed young.

Appearance tells a lot about the quality of pork. High quality pork has a delicate rose or grayish pink color in the lean, smooth fine grain and velvety textured lean flesh; firm closely trimmed outside fat; thin streaks of fat marbled in the lean and pink bone centers.

When checking pork prices consider the cost per serving - the amount of cooked lean meat that the cut will yield.

This allows for bone and fat waste and is a truer measure of cost than price per pound. The percentage of lean (and thus servings per pound) varies widely among pork cuts. The Boston butt, a square piece of meat from the upper part of the shoulder, has the highest percentage of lean meat. Unless an ad says "whole Boston butt," a few pork steaks may have been removed.

Rib end pork roasts or chops have a higher proportion of bone than center cut roasts or chops. However, they also usually sell for less money. Pork picnic is cut from the lower shoulder and front leg of the pig. They have about 61 percent lean meat. Picnics are sold fresh or smoked, with bone-in or boneless. Choose boneless shoulder meat, which has relatively little waste, for recipes requiring diced or chopped fresh pork.

You should store fresh pork cuts in the home refrigerator at temperatures between 35-40 degrees F. They will keep for 3 to 5 days. Plan to use ground pork in a day or two because it is more perishable. For longer storage, wrap fresh pork immediately and freeze. The recommended freezer storage time for fresh pork is 3-6 months. Fresh ground pork has a shorter storage time - no more than 60 days.

Today's pork is lean and nutritious. A pig goes to market young and lean. He's the "meat-type" hog, scientifically bred and fed to have certain characteristics desired by consumers.

Pork roasts and chops have wider, thicker lean muscles in proportion to bone and fat. Today's hogs have longer sides with more lean for well-streaked bacon. They also have less fat due to breeding and feeding plus the trimming done by meat packers and retailers. We no longer depend on the hog as a source of lard or fat so we get leaner, meatier pork cuts instead.

In addition to being an excellent source of protein, pork is an especially rich source of thiamin (vitamin B-1). It also supplies other B vitamins and iron. It offers lots of nutritive value for the portion of your food budget you spend for pork.

Pork teams up well with summer fruits and vegetables such as apples, pears, and squash. Stuffed pork chops are an appealing main dish for guests. A juicy, tender pork roast is easily prepared and mighty popular for summer meals on the outdoor grill. In fact, today's modern pork is an excellent choice for any season of the year. Enjoy pork!

Hot car could be a pet death trap

The buildup of heat inside a car left parked in bright summer sunshine can kill a dog or cat very quickly. The Humane Society of the United States and the Bay-Waveland Humane Society warns pet owners not to leave a pet in a parked car during the hot summer months, even for a short time.

Even with car windows left partly open, the temperature in a car can reach as high as 150 degrees in a very short time. Dogs cool themselves by panting, and with only overheated air to breathe, the animal will soon die from heat prostration. Those that survive can suffer irreparable brain damage.

First aid for heat prostration can be administered by immersing the animal in cold water until the body temperature returns to normal. The animal should then be taken immediately to a veterinarian. The Humane Society of the United States is a national, non-profit animal welfare organization dedicated to the prevention of cruelty and suffering to all animals. Questions relating to special pet problems, or other services of the Society, should be directed to HSUS Headquarters, 2100 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037.

PATRICIA WILSON PALERMO, daughter of Hilda Ladner Wilson of Bay St. Louis, now residing in New Orleans, recently graduated from Grace King High School May 15th at the Municipal Auditorium in a graduating class of 549. She will enter LSU in the fall, majoring in Business Administration.

Keen of Bay St. Louis. Byrum was also named Grand Prize winner, and Mike Murphy received an honorable mention in the adult class.

Junior and Senior Division winners were: Terrell Nicholson, first; Richard Thompson, second; Lee Eymard, third; Bernadette Westhoff, honorable mention.

In the elementary division, Dana Wheeler captured first place and Anabelle Lipscomb, second. Honorable mention went to Joseph Adams.

Receiving special recognition for their entries were: Garvin Whitlock, Melissa Hudson, Klaus Beermann, and Judy O'Keefe. Organizers expressed particular thanks to community businesses who by their donations and assistance made the festival possible.

890 Battalion trains at Camp Shelby

The 890th Engineer Battalion (Cbt Hvy), Commanded by Major Buddy Broadway of Picaune, entered training at Camp Shelby on June 18, and returned home on July 2. The Battalion attended four days of exercises in the field, with emphasis on tactical training in a combat environment.

Some of the projects included construction of bridges, roads, digging lakes, constructing gate houses, railroad spurs, parking areas, and re-roofing existing facilities, and re-surfacing existing roads.

A number of other duties were performed by members of the many Mississippi communities that make up the National Guard.

CYO takes Biloxi trip

On Tuesday, June 20, the Infant of Prague CYO sponsored a trip to the cinema in Biloxi to see the motion picture, Smoky and the Bandit. All 20 of the members that participated, the two Brothers and the two adult leaders enjoyed the trip very much. After seeing the movie, the group went to eat.

DOVE FEED

Brown-top millet can be planted for dove feed until July 15 in South Mississippi and still be mature in time for the first dove season. A second planting can produce seed for the end of the first season and for the second season in North and South Mississippi.

If you broadcast the seed, be sure to leave alternating fallow strips and keep them disked. Doves prefer clean feeding areas. You may want to mow and windrow a portion of the millet two weeks before the seed and prevents the remaining seed from deteriorating as fast because it is off the ground. Windrows can then be turned again as seed becomes scarce in the feeding area. Fallow strips can be planted in wheat just before the season. It is advisable to have doves coming to your field before the season, which usually begins the first or second Saturday of September in the north zone and the third Saturday of September in the south zone.

For a prolonged shooting season, restrict shooting to twice a week and try to leave the field early enough to let the doves come in to the feed before going to roost.

KEEP GARDEN PRODUCTIVE

The best way to keep a garden weed-free is to have a crop growing in every row. You can keep your garden producing by plowing up rows where a crop has already matured and planting to another crop. Idle rows become havens for weeds when they could be producing another vegetable crop. Long season crops, such as tomatoes, can be kept free of weeds by using a heavy mulch of pine straw, seed-free hay or similar materials. Mulch will also reduce the need for frequent watering and help keep fruit off the ground.

If you work with any type of pesticide, learn to recognize pesticide poisoning symptoms and to administer first aid.

Pesticide poisoning symptoms include stomach cramps, dizziness, vomiting and excessive sweating.

In case of pesticide poisoning, remove the victim from the source of exposure immediately. In case of pesticide spills or poisons on the skin, remove the victim's

Weather report

Mississippi's hot weather will continue through July, with above normal temperatures projected -- including several days when temperatures will rise above 100 degrees, according to the National Weather Service outlook distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

July rainfall will be near normal in the north and below normal in the south. Amounts received will vary greatly. Rainfall usually ranges from 3.5 inches in the north to about six inches along the coast.

Cotton was in good to fair condition at the beginning of July. Bollworm populations are higher than usual. High temperatures will help control bollworm populations on some farms, but humidity will be high enough most of the time to let worms survive.

Soybean producers face a difficult month, according to the agrometeorologists at the Environmental Studies Service Center in Stoneville, who prepare the agricultural weather forecasts.

Evaporation will greatly exceed rainfall, with light showers giving only short term relief. Soybeans on sandy soil could be lost in July if rain does not fall on time, say the experts.

Rice producers will pump more water than usual, and yields could suffer if temperatures reach 100 degrees while fields are heading. The crop should continue to develop faster than usual, say agrometeorologists.

Pastures and hay will grow slowly, and supplies will continue to be short. The outlook is unfavorable for most Mississippi poultrymen.

contaminated clothing. Wash the poison from the skin as soon as possible. Next, get the victim to the doctor. Tell the doctor what kind of pesticide is involved and, if possible, give him the label from the product. Prompt treatment can mean the difference between life and death.

Heat stress will be more severe and common than usual, reports indicate, and market age broilers and broiler breeder hens will be especially hard hit.

Glaucoma eye test planned

The county health department in Bay St. Louis is now providing a screening program for glaucoma for those persons 65 years of age or older.

Glaucoma is the leading cause of preventable blindness. This condition, which involves increased pressure within the eyeball, will gradually destroy the nerve fibers in the eyes, causing total blindness.

Signs and symptoms suggesting Chronic Glaucoma include the following: Frequent changes of glasses, none of which is satisfactory; inability to adjust the eyes to darkened rooms, such as theatres; Loss of side vision;

Blurred or foggy vision; Rainbow-colored rings around lights; Difficulty in focusing on close work.

Here are some points to remember about glaucoma: Is found primarily in people over 35 years of age; Exists for quite some time without symptoms; Can be controlled with proper treatment; Is controlled easier when detected in early stages; Occurs more often in families of people with this disease.

Fortunately, there is a quick, simple, painless testing procedure for glaucoma.

Don't neglect your eyes - take advantage of this opportunity! Testing date will be July 15, from 8:30 - 9:30.

I guess by now everyone knows what a QSL Club is. So if anyone is interested in joining one let me know and I'll send you information on some of the well known ones.

It has been predicted that in a year or so there will be a big CB war. You have heard of a gas war where they lower the price of gas, well there may be a CB war where they lower and raise the prices of CB equipment. Myself, I can hardly wait.

Got questions? Or information? Mail it or them to me at 135 Lanai Village, Bay St. Louis, MS. 39520.

REGISTRATION

Registration for the second term of the 1977 Summer Session at Ole Miss is Tuesday, July 12. Classes will begin the next day.

The "county school board" on Friday will rescind its decision a year ago, Terrell Rife said, concerning non-certified teachers.

Board president James trustees will vote on the new plan, where the board will charge the school with "...not working."

"We must solve the problem," Rife commanded, "or we are supposed to."

Under the new last school year's recommendations, personnel will be responsible for their actions.

Each of these advertised items is required to be readily available for sale at advertised price in each ASP specifically noted in this ad.

The overall meal service at many of the school cafeterias was unanimously excellent. The cafeteria in their case was in Switzerland.

The police received the designed program, and half of the requirements were met. Each group of normal children received a carbohydrate program, and both the teachers and the program were excellent.

The school at Gulfport and Charleston, Pearl Harbor, was excellent. The school was an elementary school, and the extra milk was during the school year.

The new program was outstanding. The objectives were designed to cooperate with the workers and the service to the community.

To achieve the recommended results, we need to have a district plan, ideas for improvement, and the suggestions of the other central and job of the operation, sanitation, and storage.
